\section{Newsletter}

\begin{multicols}{2}

\subsection*{Environmental Awareness}

Our college is taking several steps to promote environmental awareness among students. Various activities are being organized to encourage students to protect nature and maintain a clean environment.

\subsection*{Green Campus Initiative}

The college has started a green campus initiative to reduce plastic waste and increase the number of trees on campus. Students are encouraged to use reusable bottles and avoid single-use plastics.

\subsection*{Save Energy}

Students and staff are encouraged to switch off lights, fans and computers when they are not in use. Saving electricity helps reduce energy consumption and protects the environment.

\subsection*{Upcoming Activities}

\begin{itemize}
\item Tree Plantation Drive
\item Clean Campus Campaign
\item Recycling Awareness Program
\item Environmental Quiz
\end{itemize}

\end{multicols}

\section{Three-Column Layout}

\begin{multicols}{3}

\subsection*{Column 1}

This is the first column of the newsletter. It can contain information about environmental protection, nature conservation and green initiatives.

\subsection*{Column 2}

This is the second column. Multiple columns are useful for creating newspaper and newsletter-style documents. They make the content organized and easy to read.

\subsection*{Column 3}

This is the third column. It can contain information about upcoming environmental events, recycling activities and other important announcements.
